

UNIVERSITY OF CRETE • FACULTY OF EDUCATION
DEPARTMENT OF PRIMARY EDUCATION

Rethymnon, 19-12- 2019

To whom it may concern

As faculty member of the Department of Primary Education of the University of Crete, I have had the opportunity to meet Ms Eirini Karpadaki, a graduate of our Department, during her last year of study when she chose to carry out research and write a dissertation under my supervision. Ms Karpadaki designed an ambitious and challenging qualitative study focusing on the education of refugee children and home-school cooperation in Chania, Crete. She showed great enthusiasm and diligence in the course of her study and delivered a very satisfactory dissertation proving that she masters both analytical and synthetic skills. She is also a very bright and enthusiastic student, who in my view would make an excellent postgraduate student in whichever field she chooses to continue her education.

Sincerely yours,
