To whom it may concern,

RE: Letter of Recommendation for Curtis Davies

Curtis Davies has been an English teacher who I have been working with since 2015.

Curtis has been the cohost on the Real English Conversations Podcast since it was started over 7 years ago. Together we have recorded over 100 episodes about different topics that are relevant and helpful to English learners from around the world.

In addition to the podcast, Curtis has also taught group English lessons and one-to-one private classes. He is a highly experienced teacher in teaching speaking fluency, listening skills, and building confidence in his students.

He has been a reliable, enthusiastic, and valuable teacher to have on our team and I would recommend him to any company looking to hire him. If you need any further information about his work history or my experience working with Curtis, don't hesitate to contact me via the website.

Sincerely,

Amy Whitney
